

Georgia Convention Guide

County Conventions

Each Precinct is entitled to one delegate and one alternative delegate. Precincts are entitled to one additional delegates and one alternate delegate for every 50 votes or major faction cast for the Republican Presidential candidate in the immediately preceding election.

Qualifications

- Registered Republican residing within the district at time of election

Process

- Delegates are elected at County Mass Meetings
 - In some counties an election committee is assembled to review the candidates nominated at the Mass Meeting
- The State Committee will issue a Call for a mass meeting and provide the details of how to be elected as delegate]
 - Contact your local GOP to see if the Call has been issued
 - www.gagop.org

District and State Convention

Each county is entitled to one delegate and one alternative delegate. In addition each county is entitled to one delegate and one alternate delegate for every 1000 votes or major faction cast for the Republican Presidential candidate in the immediately preceding election.

Qualifications

- Registered Republican residing within the district at time of election

Process

- Delegates are elected at their County Convention by qualified electors

Who to Contact

Contact your local GOP to find out more information

Visit: www.gagop.org

<http://www.precinctproject.us/>